DESIGNATION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC,
May 1, 1995.

I hereby designate the Honorable ENID G. WALDHOLTZ to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

NEWT GINGRICH,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

MORNING BUSINESS

Pursuant to the order of the House of January 4, 1995, the Chair will now recognize Members from lists submitted by the majority and minority leaders for morning hour debates. The Chair will alternate recognition between the parties, with each party limited to not to exceed 30 minutes, and each Member except the majority and minority leaders limited to not to exceed 5 minutes.

RECESS IN SOUTHWEST FLORIDA

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 4, 1995, the gentleman from Florida [Mr. GOSS] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. GOSS. Madam Speaker, the House has just completed a district work period, as Members know. Members are returning to Washington as we speak. The district work period is a time we all go home and listen to what the people we work for have to say. We reflect on what has been accomplished here in Washington. We report back to them. We get a little bit of a report card on how things should be done and instructions about what it is that the people that we work for would like us to try and achieve as we go forward with the congressional agenda.

This year's spring break tragically, as we all know, was overshadowed by the terrible bomb blast that occurred April 19 in Oklahoma City. Our hearts and our prayers go out to the victims, their families, the entire Oklahoma community, and all the extraordinary Americans who have rallied together in this time of crisis. So many people were touched by this tragedy. Even in remote southwest Florida that I represent the grief was felt in families who lost loved ones who were killed in the blast. We certainly applaud the efforts of the President, Federal and local law enforcement, and Members of this Congress in coming together to bring the perpetrators to justice and explore the challenge of preventing such a tragedy from recurring again.

Madam Speaker, I spent a good part of the break meeting with citizens in Florida, from small business owners and operators to students, to representatives of the media, a broad cross section of the people who make things tick in our small corner of America. It was an extremely valuable period of dialog for me, a time to share ideas and reflect on where we as a nation need to be headed. The timing of the recess—which we all know included the tax filing deadline of April 17—helped focus people's attention on the functions of their Federal Government and the need for change in the way we conduct the Nation's business. Just about everywhere I went in my travels throughout the district and beyond the district as well, people were encouraged by the changes that are taking place up here in Congress in terms of increased efficiency, streamlined operations, less Government interference in their daily life, and maybe even achieving a better return to citizens for their hard-earned tax dollars in the way we spend them. But there was also growing interest in tackling the challenge of reforming our tax system in a comprehensive way, and I suspect that may have had something to do with the fact that people were trying to understand those very difficult instruction forms at the last minute on April 15 when they were rushing to get in even before the extended deadline of April 17 this year. I think most people recognize that our current tax structure is inefficient, it is unfair, and it is largely incomprehensible certainly to the average American if they try and read the instructions. The paperwork alone is enough to ruin anyone's day, and the feeling is pervasive that many filers are paying too much and do not see a fair return on the investment they are required to make, and I think many agree that taxes are not moneys that are always well spent by Washington.

In fact, it was while I was home over this break that I received a note from our UPS delivery person who brought a package to my house. He scribbled his message right on the little yellow delivery ticket one gets right over the printed instructions so I could not read it exactly, but the sentiment was very clear. It said: "Today's tax system is unfair and needs to be changed." This particular citizen urged my support for a flat tax, an option that is gaining in popularity and deserves our close attention. There are, in fact, many possibilities for tax overhaul, including not just the flat tax, or some version of it, but the national sales tax and other variations on those themes. I am pleased that the chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means and the House majority leader have committed to beginning the dialog of tax reform this year, with the possibility of real change by next year. That would certainly be a welcome relief by the time April 15 came around.

This is a discussion that affects every American, and I hope the national dialog will help to educate us all about the pros and cons of the options out there.

We understand the problem. We just do not know what the best solution is yet, and I think that that ought to be at the top of our agenda. I think it is clear from those of us who went home and took the pulse that America is ready for bold change. It is time to stop fooling around at the edges of some of these systems and start constructing new systems that are fairer and more efficient. Everybody I talked to one way or the other, when we got on the subject of taxation, said, "How about a better deal with our taxes? How about a system that we can understand?"

Well, Madam Speaker, how about it? As we tackle the budget process, can we include tax reform? I think the people we work for have asked us to do that, and I can see no reason at all why we should not. So how about it? Let us take on tax reform.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12 of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess until 2 p.m.

Accordingly (at 12 o'clock and 37 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess until 2 p.m.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. James David Ford, D.D., offered the following prayer:

O loving God, we come together on this day and we recount with thanksgiving all the blessings You have bestowed upon Your people. Yet, we are painfully aware of the suffering of people whose lives have been devastated and whose families have been destroyed. We especially remember with our thoughts and prayers the people of Oklahoma City who have suffered such distress and misery. We pray that Your good spirit that supports and gives hope even in tragedy will be with them in their grief and give healing to their souls. We pray also for all those valiant people who have done so much to rescue those in need and who have risked their own lives to save others. May Your peace, gracious God, that passes all human understanding, be with all Your people, this day and every day, we pray. Amen.

COMMEMORATING THE 30TH ANNI- VERSARY OF THE DISAPPEAR- ANCE OF COL. CHARLES SHELTON

(Mr. LEWIS of Kentucky asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LEWIS of Kentucky. Madam
Speaker, I rise today to honor an American hero who disappeared 30
years ago.

Charles Shelton was an Owensboro,
KY native who was shot down over
Laos April 29, 1965—his 33d birthday.

His Air Force plane crash-landed, and he even made radio contact with friendly forces before being captured.
Several reports describe Colonel Shelton's escape and recapture—as well as other sightings—well into the 1980's.

Last year, after his children petitioned the Pentagon, Colonel Shelton's
status was changed to presumed dead.
He was the last American POW of the Vietnam war.

Last year Charles Shelton was eulogized at the grave site of his wife,
Mariam, in Arlington National Cemetery.

Saturday, his friends and family
began work on a memorial on the lawn of the Daviess County Courthouse. It is a fitting honor for an American hero.

I rise today to remind my colleagues and the American people of the bravery of Charles Shelton—and to ask that the sacrifices of the Shelton family and so many others not be forgotten.

CORRECTING CNN'S STATEMENTS ABOUT THE NATIONAL GUARD

(Mr. MONTGOMERY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MONTGOMERY. Madam Speaker, Cable News Network anchor Bernard Shaw made an inaccurate statement last night during CNN's program
in observance of the 20th anniversary of the end of the Vietnam war. He was explaining how five National Guardsmen from one small town in Kentucky
got killed in the war and then he said
the National Guard rarely goes overseas to combat.

That is totally wrong. The only reason more National Guardsmen were not used in Vietnam was that President

Johnson wanted to keep them home to control antiwar riots in the States.

The fact is that the National Guard
has been involved in overseas combat missions for more than half a century.
Four of the 12 divisions landing in Europe and D-day were National Guardsmen and the 29th National Guard Division lost 2,000 men in 1 day at Omaha Beach.

President Bush sent 106,000 young National Guardsmen and reservists to the Persian Gulf war. They fought alongside the Active Forces on the ground
and in the air during that war.

And even today, the National Guard
and Reserve are flying missions over and into the war-torn country of Bosnia.

The fact is that the Active Forces
cannot go anywhere in the world today
without the National Guard and Reserve.

I think CNN owes it to these men and women, their families, and the American people to set the record straight
on this issue.
